(Sender's complete address above)

Dear Folks,

June 23, 1944.

Time to drop you a line again to let you know that I am all right. Can't say when this will be mailed however. Usually a mail ship comes around every few days or so.

Things are still going fine. You probably know that better than I because you have more news. I understand they now have Cherbourg completely encircled, and it is just a matter of time before we have that port. Then things will begin to pop.

We have had no trouble at all for the last three days, but it's going on all around us. Looks like events are capitalizing out in the Pacific too. Who knows! Maybe it will be over before too long. Am expecting mail from all of you. This is a rough trip. The longest I have been away from the states. Love to all
